This happened a few days back (I was witnessed) quite accidentially. I was in a hurry to shave (I can remember there was a queer urgency). Naturally one Symbol must cover all its similar meanings.

The original language was a series of pleonograms, [illegible] of emotional expression with gesture aiding; subsequently graphs were added — crude pictures, mainly of things; developing as sound-signs. The ideograph ultimately relating abstracts, [illegible] as sense and spatial inexactness. If Logic needs its own language, Theurgy, e.g., communication between Ego and Mind also needs its own form, based on the primal universal language: Sign + sound + meaning.

What are the essential requirements of such a language?

The axiom is simplicity: Signs and symbols used as near as possible have resemblance to geometric, arabesque or abbreviated picture-graphs. Syntax is mainly conjunctional, an accurate sequence of words giving significant meaning: Certain properties cannot be either implicate or explicate in one word, nor autological unit a 'one to one' meaning. Argument begins with abstracts. Example: The word 'God', what do we mean & how symbolize by attributes? agreed we mean 'Absoluteness' — itself limiting; God the unpredictable absolute' is better; any symbol must be arbitrary & fictional. So we agree on a sign; How do we symbolize 'omniscience'? As attribute, not the same, a contingent primary symbol thus: ⊙ because omniscience may be implicate also in mind or soul. These examples are indexed at the end of the book.

The theory is a set of Word symbols that are apophantic; sufficient as an anatomy for philosophizing, intercommunicated between Mind and Ego, not of statements, but as acting by questionaire. Three hundred sixty four word signs have been found essential, not including conjunctions, affixes & prefixes. A number of other symbols are used as experience demands (e.g., maybe only used once) As-where necessary in a statement for a particular reason, Example; symbols given beneath: Man is (a) Travestifier: (the) puppet of (some) grim Jester:

forget to pack (his) gear: left sentinence (behind): Are we decipher than our Mystery?

[illegible] are necessary, indeed the statement could be [illegible] many of the symbols are expedient and the [illegible] suitable to our purposes.

[illegible] as question to the mind would be:

[illegible] conventions of asking & personally I would not [illegible] the question by such manner although retaining brevity, [illegible] Egyptians, had the essential unspoilt mentation for pure [illegible]: would have rendered it more like an evocation & ovation, thus:

[illegible] this? [illegible] it is the creator of names, he who is not driven [illegible] the Gods: what then are the attributes and tribute?

[illegible] of years is my other name, begetter of millions of years... whereas [illegible] section of moments, and my span of minutes... my tribute yet [illegible]. "I am purified, let me accompany Thee on second, O traverser of millions of years,

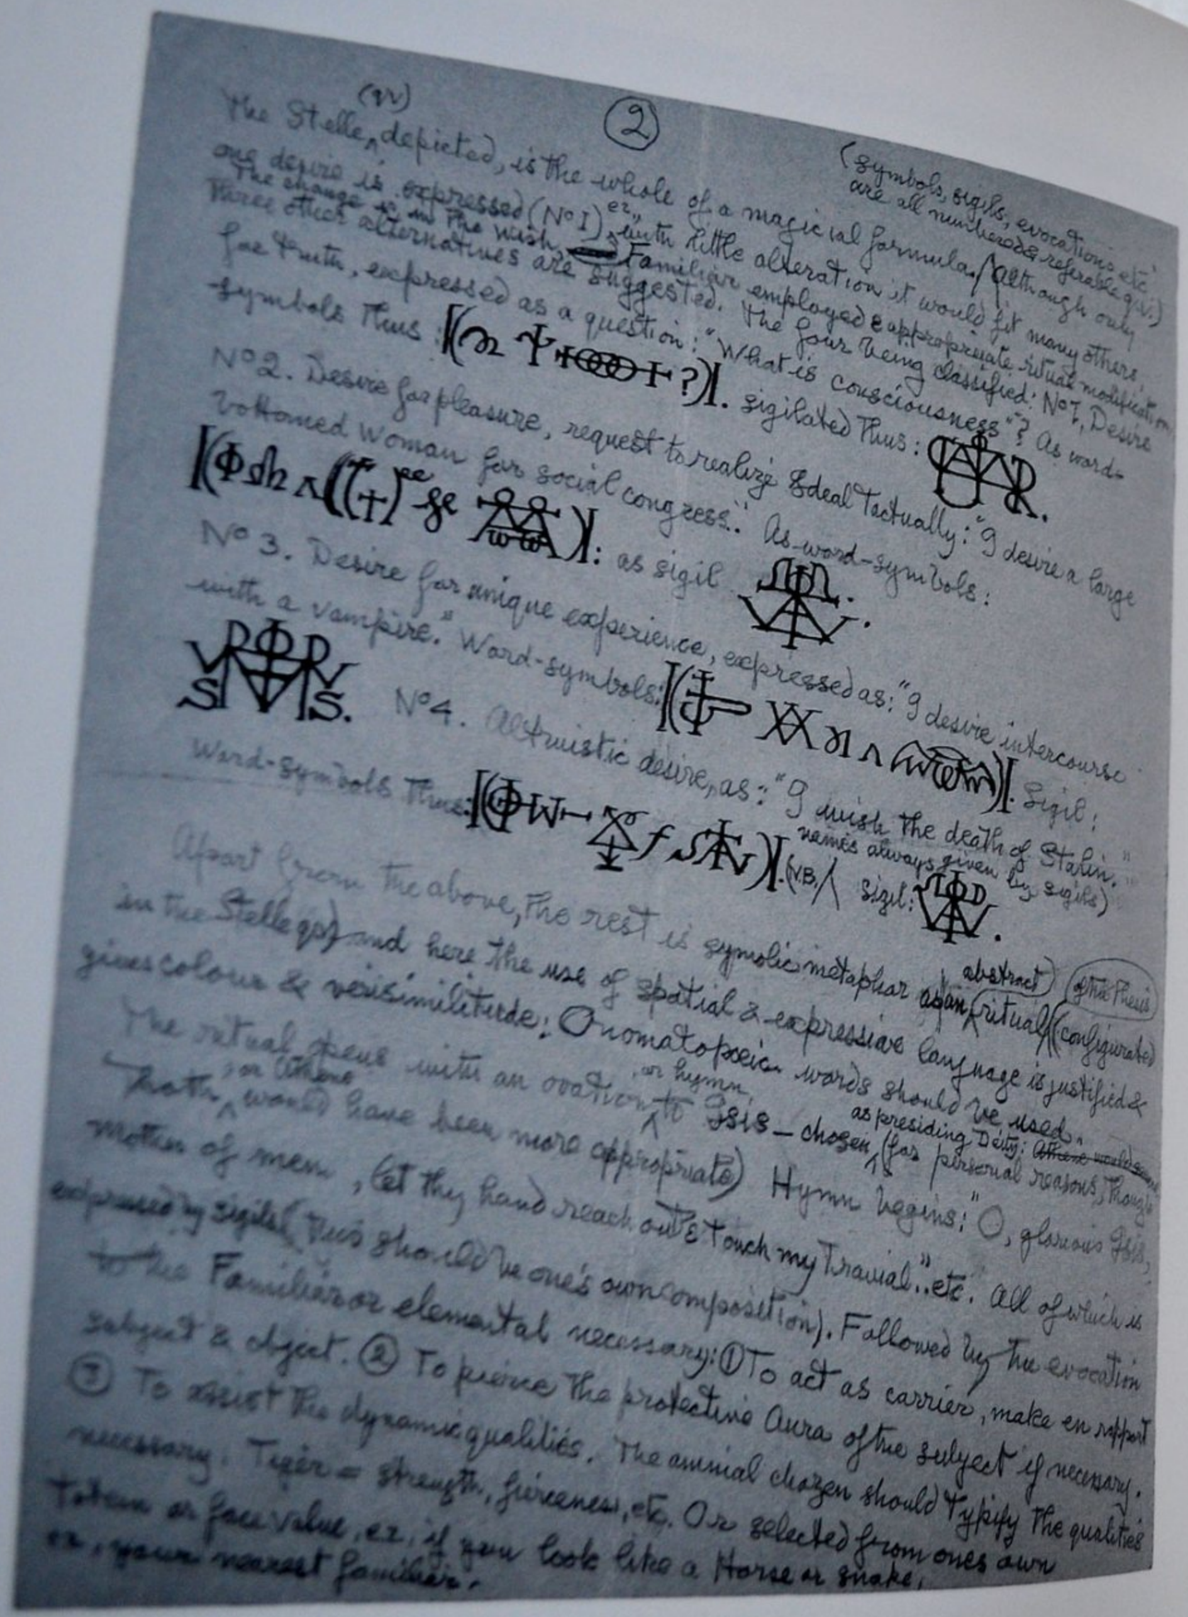
[illegible] then am I? I am the God : my name means "In raising & making" my name resounds through the corridors of Time — echos back [illegible] I came late into existance in Nu: I who have entered and didst dwell in the beautiful underworld, where all the manifold forms of existance [illegible] Tree: all the wonderous Animals Gods have taught me & aroused me. Who then art thou ?

Thou O glorious Soul, didst create thyself and even Nu who knoweth [illegible] opened my mouth: I am yesterday, I have left my 'questioning' [illegible] amulet in the underworld [illegible] So, let me come forth into today articulate: I have burnt my throne, washed away the filth of death [illegible] without sin."

(P.S. There follows ritual injunctional representation

There are other ways of asking, the example above is given as showing how one can be specific through a great tradition.

Signs, are also employed as cryptograms: they are made by compounding Roman capitals, thus: The word 'Tree' = [illegible] The feature: 'Who then art thou?' = [illegible] ? It is essential to obscure meanings from others & substitute them to our mind.



(IV)

(symbols, sigils, evocations etc. are all numbered & referable again.)

The Stelle depicted, is the whole of a magical formula (although only one desire is expressed (No 1) ex with little alteration it would fit many others. The change is in the Wish, Familiar employed & appropriate ritual modifications. Three other alternatives are suggested. The four being classified: No 1, Desire for Truth, expressed as a question: "What is consciousness"? As word-symbols thus: [(⊃ Ψ ?)]. sigilated thus:

No 2. Desire for pleasure, request to realize Ideal tactually: "I desire a large bottomed woman for social congress". As word-symbols:

[(⊕ sh ∧ ((+) ge)]: as sigil

No 3. Desire for unique experience, expressed as: "I desire intercourse with a vampire." Word-symbols: [(⊕ ⊃ ∧)]. Sigil:

No 4. Altruistic desire, as: "I wish the death of Stalin." Word-symbols thus: [(⊕ W f ∧)]. (N.B. names always given by sigils) sigil:

Apart from the above, the rest is symbolic metaphor as an abstract ritual (of the Thesis) in the Stelle and here the use of spatial & expressive language is justified & gives colour & verisimilitude. Onomatopoeian words should be used.

The ritual (as configurated) with an ovation to Isis — chosen (for personal reasons, though both would have been more appropriate) as presiding Deity: Athene rejected or Athene or hymn. Hymn begins: "O, glorious Isis, motion of mem, (let thy hand reach out & touch my Tranial .. etc. All of which is expressed by sigils (each should be one's own composition). Followed by the evocation to the Familiar or elemental necessary: ① To act as carrier, make en rapport subject & object. ② To pierce the protective Aura of the subject if necessary. ③ To assist the dynamic qualities. The animal chosen should typify the qualities necessary. Tiger = strength, fierceness, etc. Or selected from ones own totem or face value, ex, if you look like a Horse or snake, ex, your nearest familiar.

Complete Thesis and Ritual of Magical Transitivity

PROPOSITIONAL:

That man is a complex of appetites seeking satisfaction – imperative – either 'copulatio or suppositio' (or both).

That by certain arbitrary and deliberate acts he can synchronize desire and event 'as now', i.e., as though arbiter.

That any desire, sufficiently dynamic, compressed into a single wish or belief (as 'question-request'), if arabesquely formulated, will fulfil its evolution expediently and return its connative possibility.

Transference from the conscious to the subconscious is automatic when [the wish is] suppressed and sublated by symbols, sigils or glyphs understood either personally or universally. Man is a ratio of his experience, but the subconsciousness is all-knowing (limit unknown).

The mind grants limitless power (will), only measured against belief, and indifferent re: 'quo animo'.

Familiarity breeds all things, including Gods, and Virus, the rare compathy or the commonplace: either we are 'arrivists' or recidivists.

Anyone is capable of anything (will plus belief is ability) if they themselves create the opportune moment and incentive. Heaven gives no genius to disbelievers and no vengeance worse than the body denied.

The terrain between pure Ego (mediator) and ego empirical (conative) is the formative, amalgamative and rationalizing domain which reveals by symbols and metaphor only, and which answers only by such presentation, i.e., a problem, a cryptograph and picturesque arabesques. Hence: [(⊃ Ψ ⊙ F ⓪)]

Such a question is answered at once (as near as). But written as an absurd succession of corrupt semantics, thus: "What is truth?", is never answered. The original relation of shapes, sounds and meaning is lost – tortuosities – ambiguously dissipating. Other factors are scattered in the text (q.v.) as given.

Although only one desire is expressed (No. 1, supra), with little alteration it would fit many others. The change is in the Wish, the Familiar employed, and appropriate ritual modifications. Three other alternatives are suggested, the four being classified:

No.1: Desire for Truth expressed as a question in word-symbols thus:

[(⊃ Ψ ?)]. ("What is consciousness?")

sigillated thus:

No. 2: Desire for Pleasure. Request to realize Ideal tactually: "I desire a large-bottomed woman for social congress". As word-symbols:
